Conduct of Employment Agencies and Employment Businesses Regulations 2003, we are under a legal obligation to provide relevant information about you to any hirer/prospective employer insofar as it relates to your suitability for the role. As a result, we may need to provide certain information to a hirer whether or not you have consented to us doing so. For further information, please refer to Regulation 20 of the above regulations.

Currently we do not process any of your data outside of the EEA, however if this changes we will update this notice.

In order to provide work-finding services to you, your personal data may be disclosed to:

- Potential employers and any third-party businesses/intermediaries acting on behalf of those potential employers
- Organisations which we may approach to obtain professional or academic references
- Organisations which we contact to verify any training, qualifications, certifications and professional memberships held by you
- Government departments, such as the Home Office, for the purpose of checking or verifying your right to work in the United Kingdom
- Our professional advisors and administrative service providers
- Any third-party company through which you are contracting or are proposing to contract, such as an umbrella company

We may also disclose your personal data to third-parties where we are permitted or required by law to do so:

- To comply with any legal obligation, such as the obligation to report payroll and Intermediary Company payments to HMRC
- To comply with any court order, summons or subpoena
- To investigate or prevent crime
- To comply with any lawful request which is made by a governmental department or agency
- To bring or defend legal proceedings or to take legal advice in respect of any potential legal proceedings

Your personal data will not otherwise be shared with any other organisations unless you have given your direct and personal consent to the sharing of personal data.

What is the lawful basis for processing the data?

Consent

In certain circumstances we will require consent to process both personal data and special category data, but it must be explicitly given. Where we are asking you for sensitive personal data we will always tell you why and how the information will be used.

You may withdraw consent at any time by contacting the Data Protection Manager for the company.

Legitimate interest

As a recruitment business we introduce candidates to clients for permanent employment and independent professional contracts. The exchange of personal information of our candidates and our client contacts is a fundamental, essential part of this process.

We maintain a database of relevant personal information of prospective and engaged candidates and clients containing historical information as well as current resourcing requirements, in order to:

Document id:	Anubian Consulting - Privacy Notice	Page 3 of 6
Version:	V3	Confidential Information
Issued:	30.05.2024	Document Owner: DPO

- Support candidates' career aspirations throughout their career and support our clients' resourcing needs and strategies
- Carry out our obligations arising from any contracts we intend to enter into or have entered into between you and us and to provide you with the information, products and services that you request from us
- We will rely on contract if we are negotiating or have entered into a contract to provide services to, or receive services from you or your organisation
- We will rely on legal obligation if we are legally required to hold information on you, e.g. by tax law

We will, in some circumstances, rely on consent for particular uses of your data. Examples of when consent may be the lawful basis for processing include permission to introduce you to a client (if you are a candidate).

Just so you are aware our online recruitment systems do not use Automated Decision Making tools to assess the suitability of applicants but we utilise the skills and experience of our consultants to assess your capability and experience.

We do not collect or compile personal information for distribution or sale to outside parties for consumer marketing purposes, or host mailings on behalf of third parties.

How long will we keep your data?

We understand our legal duty to retain accurate data and only retain personal information for as long as it is required for carrying out the data processing activities mentioned above. Accordingly, we have a data retention policy and run data routines to remove data that we no longer have a legitimate business interest in maintaining.

We will keep in touch with you regularly to confirm all the information we hold is accurate and up to date and you still wish for us to hold your data, you can ask us at any stage to remove your information. Prior to making any introduction to our client we will check with you that we have the most up to date and accurate information.

What rights do you have as a data subject?

As an Individual you have the right to be informed about the collection and use of your personal data. This is a key transparency requirement under the GDPR.

- The right to be informed
- The right of access – you have a right to access the information we hold about you
- The right to rectification – you have the right to correct the data that we hold about you that is incomplete or inaccurate
- The right to erasure – under certain circumstances you can ask us to delete data that we hold about you
- The right to restrict processing – you can ask us to restrict the processing under certain circumstances
- The right to data portability – you have the right to request that we transfer information about you to another organisation.
- The right to object – you have the right to object to certain types of processing.
- Rights in relation to automated decision making and profiling

In order to exercise your rights, you need to contact us and we will send you a subject access request form.

How do I find out what data is being held about me?

You are entitled to see the information held about you and you may ask us to make any necessary changes to ensure that it is accurate and kept up to date. If you wish to do this, or you have a complaint please contact us at the email address above. There is no fee for this service.

You need to submit a Subject Access Request to us and we can confirm what information we hold about you and how it is processed. If we do hold personal data about you, you can request the relevant information, including the following:

- The identity and contact details of the person or organisation that is processing your personal data
- The contact details of our Data Protection Manager, where appropriate, or the company’s representative
- The reason and the legal basis for the processing
- Whether the processing is based on legitimate interest
- The categories and special categories of data
- How long the data will be stored for
- Whether the provision of the data is a contractual requirement or a statutory one and whether and what the consequences are if the individual fails to provide the relevant data
- Any details of automated decision making, such as profiling and any relevant information about the logic involved in the decision-making process, including the significance and expected consequences of the processing

Who do I complain to if I’m not happy?

If you wish to complain about how your personal data is being processed by us or any third party that processes data on our behalf, or how your complaint has been handled by us, you can complain by contacting us on the details above or direct to the supervisory authority:
